

About the job

Company Description

American Metal Technologies is a leading provider of machined ferrous and non-ferrous castings. With a focus on engineering-centered solutions, we integrate global capabilities with skilled manufacturing expertise to deliver unmatched quality and customer satisfaction. Our innovative and cost-effective solutions set the standard in the supplier market.

Role Description

This is a full-time on-site Senior Quality Engineer role located in Sturtevant, WI at American Metal Technologies. The Senior Quality Engineer will be responsible for ensuring product quality, implementing quality assurance processes, and managing quality control systems on a day-to-day basis and report to upper management.

Qualifications

- Quality Engineering and Quality Management skills
- Tier 1 Automotive Experience
- Experience in Quality Control and Quality Assurance
- Strong understanding of Product Quality Standards
- Ability to analyze and improve Quality Processes
- Knowledge of IATF 16949 and ISO 9001 standards
- Excellent problem-solving and decision-making skills
- Bachelor's degree in Mechanical Engineering
- Certifications in Quality Management are a plus